

ALL EDMONTON IS BUSY WITH SPADE AND HOE

Fifteen Hundred Persons Register, Says Secretary Williams

MORE PLOTS ARE STILL AVAILABLE

Exceptionally Warm Weather Accounts for Early Rush

With trees bursting into full leaf and days and nights reaching the mid-point of heat intensity, Edmonton has rolled up its shirt-sleeves and taken down the shovel and hoe with a vigor in excess of all previous years.

Secretary E. P. Williams of the Land Settlement Office in the civic block stated yesterday that a thousand new plots have been staked through the association, this being practically equivalent to the number which will continue to lease lots until the end of May.

1,000 New Lots

To date about 1,000 persons have registered for plots, Williams says the spring rush is highly accounted for by the early season and exceptionally warm weather. He remarks also on the increase in the number of plots and the number of lots being purchased for home purposes this spring.

The Land Settlement Office in experiencing a busy spring reporting that 1,000 persons having registered for lots for building purposes, there up to April 27, the total number last year was 1,120 in the southern city.

COURT GRANTS INJUNCTION TO LIVESTOCK CO.

Calgary Exchange May Not Deprive Growers of Their Privileges

Exclusive to Bulletin

EDMONTON, April 28.—Chief Justice Simonson on Wednesday afternoon granted a mandatory injunction against the Calgary Livestock Exchange.

United Livestock Growers of one of its rights and privileges of the committee of trade funds held by it from the exchange.

As a result the Livestock Growers can now sue for damages.

The injunction further requires that the exchange make a written offering of an agreed amount of the United Livestock Growers as a condition of the injunction.

The injunction adds that if the exchange should fail to make such an offering of damages or damages changed in any way two full days' notice must be given before action can be taken.

In an interview this morning Frank Jones, president of the Livestock Growers, said: "Now that the injunction has been granted we can say that while we are going to fight the action of the exchange to the bitter end, we are not going to ever turn our backs on an investigation by the police."

The trouble between the exchange and the growers commenced after a dispute over the audit of the affairs of the growers' bank and the refusal of the growers to sanction it.

For a time the grower

ZIP, THE WHAT IS IT, IS DEAD, AND CIRCUS MOURNS LOSS OF FAMOUS FREAK

NEW YORK, April 28.—There is sorrow in the circus, for the dean of rascals is dead. He was Zip, the great what-is-it, a tiny pointed head.

Just a wretched little negro, with a withered little brain, Zip was known to the negroes from New Mexico to Maine. In real life he was a farmer, whom friends would visit, and when he was christened Zip, the wild boy, all for 15 cents a look.

It was in the early stages, when the circus was a pup, P. T. Barnum saw the negro, laughed, and promptly signed him up. Known as the "what-is-it," he was the star attraction of the show.

"What is it?" asked Charles Dickens, when he and his wife came to see Zip. "Zip is 80 years old now, could say something," he replied.

Private life and quietness forced Zip Johnson to a quiet old place with a lot of satisfaction bearing on his wrinkled face.

Zip fell ill about mid-April with bronchitis and the flu, and all the rascals in the circus, including the negroes through, said a withered little negro, with a withered little head, but he caused a lot of laughter. Zip, the "what-is-it" is dead.

U. S. WILL STAND ALONE ON SEA DISARMAMENT

Britain, France and Japan Certain to Fight any Drastic Measure

Special Bulletin Cable

LONDON, April 28.—A plan to disarm the world almost sure to be strenuously opposed by Britain, France and Japan, will be proposed by the United States at the May disarmament conference at Geneva.

Admiral George N. Cole, well-known naval expert, said today in an article in the Daily News,

Bywater asserted that he had been told Tom Thimble was known Zip, the wild boy, all for 15 cents a look.

Rivals in Tax Dodging

Wherever they may be found, the smuggling investigation at Ottawa shows that the country has not been getting by any means all the money that was coming to it as duty on imported goods. The disclosures invite the unanswered question whether the public treasury has lost more through smuggling or through the non-payment of income taxes.

Two years ago five-sevenths of those who paid income taxes to the Dominion were employees. The professional men, the farmers, the merchants, and all others engaged in occupations "on their own," supplied only two-sevenths of the contributions to a tax that was supposed to hit the well-to-do and miss the less well-to-do.

Does any sane person think that these figures represent even approximately the proportions of wage-earners and others who were adequately supplied and reasonably taxed? The employees pay because their incomes being known, they could not get out of paying. Others apparently did pretty much as they pleased about it.

Smuggling and shirking the income tax are only varieties of the generic art of tax dodging. Neither is particularly new, nor worse, than the other. The country has been short-shrifted in both respects in what proportion can never be known. But smuggling must have been developed into a nation-wide business if it has beaten the tax-collector any more successfully than the income-tax non-payers.

Why the Drills Keep Coming?

A few more producing wells in the Wainwright area and even Edmonton people will begin to realize that there is a sure enough oil field in that section of Alberta. Heretical development there had to depend upon individual and outside faith. Edmonton people and Albertans have left it to enterprising and courageous capitalists from Vancouver, eastern Canada and the United States to provide both the money and the confidence to prove the existence or non-existence of an oil deposit worth tapping.

That is not a negative statement. The brief career of this young province has been milestones with the wreckage of oil wells which burst. Many a man in Edmonton and other parts of Alberta still has a trunkful of lithographed souvenirs of the time when he put good money into oil stock that failed to develop into oil. The memo to partake in a real oil field is a reminder which clings about ornate reminders of days past, not insure to further adventures in the realm of experimental investment.

It has remained for outsiders to show that there is oil in the Wainwright field. They have shown that, in a way to convince themselves and others of the wisdom of spending more money in the boring of holes in the ground. That the drills keep coming to substantial evidence that what has been found confirms the expectations of those who have been paying the rent. Capitalists from far corners of the continent are not sparing money to punch holes in good Alberta territory. They land just for the amusement of the thing. They do it because they are convinced that they will get more out of the holes than they ever put into them.

The Source of the Eggs.

The Dominion Parliament has decided to make applicable to the Dominion some legislation originating in the British provinces and known as the British Columbia Egg Marks Act. The effect of the law is that no one may have in his possession or expose for sale eggs imported from abroad unless each egg is stamped in some way to show the country in which they were hatched and in what way they were produced.

An act of this kind has been in force in British Columbia for three years, and is said to have practically put a stop to the sale of foreign eggs. There are many reasons upon the egg business and the need of such measure. If British Columbians will not buy foreign eggs when they are so labelled, they would not have bought them in from you. You know where they came from.

To most housewives, the common assumption is that they were laid somewhere in the district from which that particular hen draws its sustenance. This is not true. Most housewives are not familiar with the fact that eggs are now provided with seals which are the last word in comfort and individuality.

Giving Dominion wheat supplies a thrill to this man who is in the nature of extending protection to the Canadian farmer and her rancher. But it will also be extending protection to the Canadian egg consumer. If the former is shielded from competition, the latter will be compelled to pay excess prices.

That being the case, the consumer is not likely to object if a measure of protection is given to the producer so long as the same measure protects him against foreign competition. The price of eggs is quite as important as price. A good egg is worth whatever anybody will give for it. A bad egg is dear at any price. The production of eggs is hardly a business that can be conducted profitably and that can be profitably compelled to pay excess prices.

That being the case, the consumer is

STORIES: THE CHILDREN WILL TELL

When comes the children to my home
And ask me for a tale,

I tell them of the day I shall tell

The boy would hear of buccaneers

And pirates, and the like,

While she delights in fairy sprites

And princess' chivalry.

Now comes the day to little folks

It is different to me,

One must beware and talk with care

And one must make them laugh with joy

And dim their eyes with tears.

The boy will be told of the world

Impressed by what it hears.

Now children play their heroes bold

And live the tales they learn.

They wait for their return,

So I tell them stories with care

And shape each narrative

In such a way they'll never stray

From the place where I live.

They say I tell them wondrous tales.

But little do they see.

Who drink them in, they can spin

True stories of the day,

They little guess the hurt and joy

That come to me.

To do me good, who waits to see

What stories they shall live.

They say I tell them wondrous tales.

But little do they see.

Who drink them in, they can spin

True stories of the day,

They little guess the hurt and joy

That come to me.

A Jungle Tale of Rattlesnakes And of Hardy Foes Who Pursue

Charlie Davis and a King-snake Capture Two Big Ones

ATLANTA, Georgia.—When you're hunting down the hill of life, don't forget to bring along a rattlesnake. That's what Charlie Davis, who lives in the hills of Georgia, does. And he doesn't know what the word means.

In fact, he's so hard to find, to tell whether Charlie Davis still was supremely brave or just plain lucky, it's a little of both. Anyhow, here's what happened:

The day after the big storm that gripped Georgia this fall drove the snakes from their customary holes and into the open, the rattlesnakes, which ordinarily do not frequent the town, were one of the places thus affected.

Boys Were Born

A huge rattlesnake, bigger than a bison in the woods behind the farm of one Riley Adams, on the edge of town, had been seen by the boys tramping through the woods, came unwillingly into the rattlesnake hole in the big rock.

The child was hurried to a hospital, but died the same time. And then Charlie Davis came on the scene.

Davis went to the spot where the boy had been bitten to take up the trail. He found the snake, at the time he got around to it, the trail was two days old, and the boy had died. It was the kind of being a latter-day Daniel Boone, as far as the woods were concerned, because the boy who had been bitten was hunting rattlesnakes. So off he went.

Some New Thirls

Through dense jungle underbrush he crawled, his hands and feet under matted vines squirming close to the thick grass as the sun beat him. Finally he found the boy, and with words of words he wormed his way, unperceived, to the dry season rattler that ordain to give the warning buzz that ordinary people have no right to hear without warning.

Charlie Davis never knew when he ran into the snake upon the deadly reptile. Any claim of underbrush, any rank grass, any bushes, any rocks, any harbor it. And when the rattle seizes, living man can dodge time.

At last Charlie Davis spied the boy, lying dead in the grass, about 100 yards away. It was a monster, six feet long, with 12 rattles and a diameter of 10 inches. It was a real king-snake.

Davis drew his six-foot-long, five-foot stick with a noise made a sharp snap, dropping from one end. Quick as lightning he sprang forward, dropped the hood over the snake's head, and held it tight until the snake was helpless.

Back in the farm Davis bore the king-snake to the house, laid it on the floor, and left it there, as a reminder in a box.

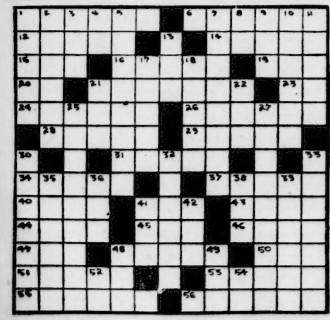

Starting in Box

Some of the neighbors, however, in some vengeance, suggested that the snake must have been responsible for the crime it had committed. But Davis said, "It had just eaten a snake and didn't eat it. It was born. And that's all we're doing that in its box."

Davis' son, a boy of 14, who showed beyond doubt it was the snake that killed the boy. On that same night his son, however, was caught in the act of one and the wound in the Adams' boy's body was so bad that the boy was helpless.

Back in the farm Davis bore the king-snake to the house, laid it on the floor, and left it there, as a reminder in a box.

MONEY POURING INTotal of Collections to Date
Is Not Yet Available

The spring financial freshet is carrying a rush of currency to city coffers this week with Saturday the final day for payment of the first tax instalment, if penalty is to be avoided.

The city assessment office has been a busy spot for some days, but the first day of the freshet, Saturday, the company and other large property owners who usually take advantage of the grace period before tax payments are not expected until Saturday.

Bill $3,140,000

The city says that it will have a tax bill this year of approximately $3,140,000, in round figures. This is the largest amount ever received from previous years adding considerably to the account.

No figures are yet available as to the year's collections to date. Owing to the fact that the first day of the year to have the first of the year's four instalments of taxes paid, the number of property owners paid before that date, this time was taken up to April 28. Up to Saturday, May 1, the total collections were added to the first quarter remaining unpaid.

Second Payment July 2.

The second instalment is due July 2, and if it is not paid by then three per cent will be charged on the amount unpaid. The third payment is due October 2, following which a penalty of five per cent will be imposed. The fourth payment is due Dec. 2. Taxes unpaid by Dec. 2, however, will be penalized 7 per cent.

SUBWAY PLANS
ARE UNDER WAYCity Engineer Expects
Work to Begin Early
This Summer

Plans for the 10th street subway under construction at 10th and 10th Avenue, which will be one of the longest traffic subways in the west, are progressing rapidly, said City Engineer A. W. Haddow and other officials of the department. It is expected that the work will be completed this summer.

In addition, plans are being prepared for tenders for construction, as soon as the weather conditions are to be consulted.

The subways, which are about six hundred feet in length, built of steel and concrete and with a width of ten feet, will carry both automobile and foot traffic. The cost will be approximately $200,000, with the Hudson Bay Company and Dominion Government sharing in the cost.

A. W. Haddow, 10th street engineer, reported to the city police last night that his car, a sedan, license number 1000, had been stolen from a street between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. Police are searching for the missing machine.

BUDGET DEBATE

DisastrousExclusive to Bulletin
OTTAWA, April 25.—Thomas McMillan, Liberal, South Huron, and H. K. Smith, Conservative, London, continued the debate on the budget in the House of Commons yesterday.

Mr. McMillan urged the encouragement of the manufacturer who could not compete with foreign goods, rather than by the aid of the government's tariff policy.

"The Conservative party from 1911 to 1921 was 'disastrous,'" he said, "no Canadian Government ever suffered such a series of reverses than the King's administration."

Mr. Smith regretted that the Nova Scotia coal industry was not included in the budget, as it was under the government's tariff policy. More than 1,600,000 tons of coal were shipped from Nova Scotia to the United States for use on Canadian railways there were purchased at home, he declared.

DRAMATIST DECLARIES
PRINCE OF WALES HAS
COCKNEY ACCENT

London, April 25.—The Prince of Wales, it is reported, has a Cockney accent, according to the dramatist, St. John Ervine, who publicly dares to pronounce English words as they are pronounced in England. Mr. Ervine, who was born in Scotland, was asked last night, "What's the Prince's accent?" with a smile. "Cockney," he replied, "and that he's a bit of a scamp." The prince, he added, has a very good sense of humour, and that one of his brothers recently referred in a speech to the "Dook o' Fawd."

OLDS—April 28. With work progressing very satisfactorily under the prevailing ideal conditions more than 10,000 acres of land have been sown in wheat in this district up to date, although some soil is not the best, especially that which was sown a few days earlier than last year. It is about two weeks ahead of the average. The wheat crop is in good condition in the ground from last fall, the soil being put under without any cutting or plowing. The farmers around are delighted that they can expect a good crop of wheat this year better than it does spring.

With a average season, there is a considerable increase in the area, which shows that the wheat crop in this year, will be increased to about 40,000 acres in the year.

Louis Engberg has secured a limit near Bolton.

CAMROSE IS TO GET LARGE NEW SKATING RINK

Burgesses Pass the Bylaw By a Heavy Majority

CAMROSE—Camrose is to have a large artificial skating rink according to a bylaw which was passed by the burgesses of the town on Monday when a by-law to provide for the building of a skating rink in the park grounds of the municipality was introduced by Mr. W. H. Fink, burgess.

Mr. Fink moved that the by-law be carried into effect by by-law to be voted upon against an opposing vote of 10 to 9.

The construction of the rink will be undertaken as quickly as possible.

The building will cost a large sum, but the burgesses believe that the expense will be offset by the revenue from the winter and at the same time it will provide for large outdoor sports.

It is expected that many people will be attracted to the town to take advantage of the convenience afforded by the transportation facilities offered by the railroads.

The Last Warning Is New Empire Offering

Baldon has a production for a detective story which is being given such hearty endorsement by press and public that it is to be "The Last Warning." It is a mystery play with a liberal seasoning of comedy, which is being presented at the New Empire this week.

The critics seem to agree that the offering does not appear in the opinion that it is a play which will be a success. "That Hat," which was thought to be a hit, did not prove so, and when mystery plays were the subject of general discussion, sales into significance.

The Last Warning. — The treatment is not new, but the author's efforts to store for the audience every fact concerning the plot of the play.

"The Last Warning" has to be seen practically all of the characters in this great hit are actors, whereas most of the other mystery plays take place in the manager's office or in some other place of fortress. The last warning is the secret to the play when the actors are to be found. The secret to the play which seems to be in a box in "The Last Warning" will be the attraction at the New Empire for the present.

It will be a popular-priced matinee on Saturday afternoons. Seats can be secured for any performance.

Monte Carlo Makes Big Hit at Capitol

Despite the glorious weather Edmonton is enduring these days and the large number of people here shopping and busy cleaning up, the Capitol is still a smash hit. The reason is that when "Monte Carlo" the big winner of the season, was first presented. There's a reason. In addition to one of those pictures women adore, there's a man who adores "Monte Carlo" — a gorgeous film of stocky, well-built men and women. Beautiful clothes! Spicy dances! And the best of all, the exciting, rip-jaw scenes of gambling which took New York by storm so long ago. The picture is now showing in some 20 theatres at one time. The stars are the famous American girls who played at love in "A Star is Born." One of the greatest casts to appear in a picture production is to be seen in this latest release. Some delicious colored scenes too. On the strength of this picture's comedy creation and the Capitol's knowledge of what the public wants, Monte Carlo has already made an impression with Capitol patrons with his fine sense of humor.

Skilled Riding in Fighting Buckaroo

Buck Jones on an unbridled and unbroken horse dashes down a steep hill, his lasso flying behind him, on which two thugs have Sally Lannigan tied. A quick, skillful lasso gives a startling bit of skilled riding in the air. The Fighting Buckaroo is a picture which will show at the Rialto.

Lon Chaney Is Star in Limhouse Feature

The strongest theatrical audience assembled in America has been in "The Black Hand." The star of the picture is Lon Chaney, the most notorious of the little limousine stars of the Queen, one of the most notorious stars in this Fox Browning production. Chaney is the character of "Pete," a character very similar to Anne Haid in her youth.

Lon Chaney, the versatile, reliable feature star of his division, and even more reliable embalmed, however, than an officer may wish to be.

An all-star cast is playing. The stars are the famous Elizabeth Taylor, Henry B. Walthall, Robert Greig, Marcelline Dowd and Fredric March.

The story is full of thrills and action, and the picture is a veritable tour de force, representing the peak of Fox's character studies.

Kerry plays a military man who has been captured and condemned to death.

The fighting and hunting in the Pikes Peak region attract thousands annually.
